So what is new?

Well I have been making changes as I feel I want my main Youtube channel, which is Typical London Gal Carrie Holmes, to be mainly week in a life videos as I do enjoy filming them for this channel and seem to get a lot of interest and have my Life coaching videos that I am doing for my Life Coaching programme "Summer Project 2023" be on my channel Carrie Educational Youtube channel instead. Here are the links to them.

What is coming up?

So the summer holidays are coming and so means 6 weeks off and my son starts a new school in September and I am a bit apprehensive about it. Let me know if you'd like me to do more parenting content on my main Youtube channel and add these items in my week in a life.

I do write a parenting blog which is getting popular I am now over 200 followers, on this site and so check it out, if you haven't done so already,

I will be doing a video about the school summer holidays on my site linked above, My way of living and will be filming some of our trips and adventures and looking forward in putting these together.

I will be continuing my Life coaching programme and this ends the end of August and so more content will be coming up and I would advise for you to follow me on my many platforms, to see all my content and you will be alerted when I post new content.
